

COHEN HILLEL ANNUAL GALA

From left to right are Jessica Black, James Odorczyk and Emily Black.

Cohen Hillel Academy has announced plans for its twenty-eighth annual gala, in conjunction with a 6:30 p.m. performance of the Tony Award-winning musical “An American in Paris” at the Citi Wang Theatre in Boston to be held Sunday, October 30. At the event, Emy and the late Stan Black and Jessica Black and James Odorczyk of Swampscott will be honored with the Dr. Bennett I. Solomon Community Leadership Award. This award was established to honor the memory of the school’s principal and recognizes the commitment made by individuals to the school and the community.

JEWISH TEEN INTERNS PRACTICE TIKKUN OLAM

As part of their program, the Interns participating in the Jewish Teen Internship at the Jewish Community Center of the North Shore have been working hard to repair the world this summer. Pictured above, they are volunteering at the Open Door in Gloucester where they worked in the kitchen prepping bag lunches for families in distress, portioned dog food for families who need help feeding their pets, and watered the flowers and garden. North Shore Teen Initiative works in partnership with the JCCNS to plan the service learning programs throughout the summer.

TOM McNULTY TO BE HONORED

Tom McNulty will be honored by the Marblehead Dollars for Scholars on Sunday, August 21, at Warwick Place at 5 p.m. McNulty is a founder and first President. The organization, created in 1987 as the Citizens’ Scholarship Foundation of Marblehead, will announce the establishment of the Deborah and Thomas McNulty Scholarship Fund.

Dollars for Scholars president, Todd Zion, credits McNulty for his early leadership resulting in the accumulation of the current two million dollar endowment, and is indebted to both Deb and Tom for their ongoing generosity.

McNulty served Marblehead for 32 years. He was an Abbot Public Library trustee for five years, a selectman for 18 years, serving 15 of those years as Chair, and he was elected Town Clerk from 2001-2007. Additionally, he served on the boards of Marblehead’s Rotary Club, Chamber of Commerce, Counseling Center, and the Scholarship Foundation where he was president for three years. After retirement McNulty and his wife, Deb, traveled extensively enjoying their leisure until he fell ill this past year.

The August 21 tribute to McNulty is open to the public. Following hors d’oeuvres in Palmer’s and remarks from McNulty, there will be a private showing of the movie “Whiplash” starring academy award winner J.K. Simmons at 6:30 p.m. Tickets are $75 and may be purchased by sending a check to Marblehead Dollars for Scholars, P. O. Box Four, Marblehead, MA 01945. MICHAEL ARNOLD INTERVIEWED FORMER ISRAELI PRESIDENT SHIMON PERES

Former Israeli President Shimon Peres and Michael Arnold.

Michael Arnold, Israel Bureau Chief for Bloomberg News, living in Tel Aviv, interviewed former Israel President Shimon Peres on July 28. A Swampscott High School graduate, Michael graduated Harvard and earned a Master’s degree at University of California Berkeley before embarking on a career in journalism. Michael joined Bloomberg News one-and-a-half years ago, after several years with Dow Jones in Tokyo, Singapore, and Hong Kong. Earlier in his career, he was the managing editor of the Jewish Telegraphic Agency in New York. He fell in love with Israel on the Y2I trip he took in high school, then went back to spend his junior year in college at Hebrew University in Jerusalem, where he learned to speak fluent Hebrew. He later returned as Israeli correspondent for The Forward, and subsequently served as night editor for the Jerusalem Post. He is the son of Mark and Judy Arnold of Gloucester. Mark is a former editor/publisher of the Jewish Journal.
